Ask me about: Providing caregivers with evidence-based strategies and education, evidence synthesis for VA decision-makers, aging and housing insecurity among Veterans

My research focuses on understanding the value and quality of care delivered to vulnerable populations, emphasizing the roles of both informal and formal long-term care systems. I am also interested in implementing evidence-based interventions for caregivers into practice. My methodological expertise includes evidence synthesis, cost-effectiveness analysis, and observational data analysis using VA data, Medicare data, and national surveys.
